Examples

Clark is a little person with experience in long term care facilities resulting from complications of living with dwarfism and a developmental disability. Clark nearly killed himself 10 years ago when he drove his car into a motel. He spent over a year in a long term care facility where he lost all hope and then found it again. That's when he became empowered. Since then, Clark turned to advocacy to empower others to take control of their lives. Clark married his high school sweet heart, who also uses a wheel chair, and they live in an accessible yurt near the Canadian border.
